

Scaffolding for the Willow...

The first of the sessions for the KS2 children (with a couple of helpers!) was the chance for the children to think outside of the box; so many times in life we face challenges where common sense and the chance to explore possibilities should prevail, but sometimes we forget to explore the possibilities! Well today they were set the task to use what they could find to build a structure to reach the Willow. The use of tyres, drain pipes and straw bales allowed them to practise their communication skills whilst also requiring a modicum of common sense! We all stayed safe despite their lofty achievements, and they all went home happy! Next week, they are going to practise some fire lighting and hopefully bake some apples.
